

Prof. Peter-Tobias Stoll, Institute for International Law and European Law, University of Göttingen
Karl-Peter Replinger, Director, European Parliament

Seminar on the World Economy in Unsettled Times and the Role of the European Union, Winter Semester 2017/2018

US tariff measures, retaliatory action by the PR China and the European Union, the use to the national security exemption and the blockade of the Appellate Body of the World Trade Organisation put the system of the world economy to the test. The seminar, which will be fully conducted in English will address relevant questions of international economic law, including historical perspectives, assess the systemic stability of the system and discuss options to move forward, taking into account the specific perspective of the European Union.

Introductory meeting ("Vorbereitung")

- Wednesday, 24 October, 6 p.m.
- Library of the Institute for International Law and European Law, MZG „blue tower“ building, room no. 13.122 (access via 12th floor)

Distribution of topics

- Friday, 26 October, 9 a.m.
- Office, MZG „blue tower“ building, room no. 13.122 (access via 12th floor)

Seminar session

- 23-25 January 2019 in Brussels at the European Parliament – details to be announced

The seminar is open for students of specialization areas (Schwerpunktbereiche) II, IV, V and IX. It requires basic knowledges about EU law, international law and international economic law and – optionally: intellectual property rights and some English language skills. Successful participants will be afforded a language certificate (Sprachenschein).

Students, including Erasmus exchange students and those of other study programmes are invited to apply for admission, indicating the level of legal and language skills and including a cv. Applications can be sent to intecolaw@jura.uni-goettingen.de.